

Barkley Project Group Ltd. has been a member of Clean Energy BC (CEABC) since 2003. Our firm provides project management consulting services for renewable energy project development, and our team has supported the planning, permitting and operations of more than 40 clean energy projects in British Columbia. We are very pleased to announce the addition of two key energy project specialists to our team.

Brian Hanson joins our team in the position of Senior Project Manager. Brian is well known among CEABC Members. He has more than 20 years management experience in the energy sector, including senior positions at Run of River Power Corp., Maxim Power Corp., TransCanada Midstream, and Alberta Natural Gas Company Ltd. Brian's extensive management experience spans the range of project planning, permitting, construction and operations, all of which are areas in which he will contribute to Barkley Group's projects.

Yuho Okada, MBA joins our team in the position of Energy Project Specialist. Yuho brings to the team academic excellence and professional experience in business planning, administration and financial management. Former General Manager of Tamagawa Canada, in 2011 Yuho completed his MBA at Royal Roads University with his thesis on stakeholder analysis of small hydro power project development in BC. CEABC Members know Yuho through his volunteer efforts on the Association's Conference Organizing Committee and Accurate Facts Project.
